

Andy Marquez

September 1, 1991 - March 3, 2019

Andy Marquez, age 27 of Orlando, Florida, passed away Sunday March 3, 2019. Andy was born in Orlando, Florida on September 1, 1991. Those who met Andy were unlikely to forget who he was. Andy was a passionate person. He always fought hard for what he believed in, even getting kicked out of his Pre-K for secretly biting other kids. Andy was also the type of person that would do anything to get a laugh out of you. Many of his high school classmates would define him as the class clown, roaming the halls dressed up as Michael Jackson. Dance moves and all. Andy attended Oak Ridge High School where he went to school with his childhood friends. He always treated his friends like family, even if it was a little tough love. After high school, Andy fell in love with a girl named Pam who tragically died after they were engaged. Two months later, Andy got into a car accident that left him a quadriplegic, no longer able to walk. Despite the tragic events that happened in his life, he adjusted and made the best out of it. "Help I can't feel my legs!" he would say, still trying to get a laugh. Right before he passed away, Andy was pursuing a college degree and was playing on a wheelchair rugby team. When he wasn't busy you could find him at all the music festivals, out fishing, playing poker, and flirting with his nurses. Andy lived with conviction, his actions always reflecting love. Love for life, love for music, and love for people.

Andyman, Danja, the infamous Mr. Rager, you will truly be missed and never ever forgotten.
