“ Mary, My name is Chrissy Simko Jacobs. Terri Deiley's sister. I remember that your darling husband was my first crush. I would watch him playing baseball with Jeff Deiley. So silly I know. Then I met you Mary. , I knew even at the young age,,,, you were that girl for him. The Simko (Terri's Family) Family have always loved John and you Mary and your children. May Our Lord grant you peace and love. The Simko Family sends you much love from your hometown.

“ John was one of the best persons I was honored to know and work with. He would call me Big E and I called him Little John. He would always help me find a stop or organized a route if asked. John would have a good story to tell during lunch and could defuse a bad moment. He would talk about his family quite a lot and love them so. Rest in Peace Little John, you will missed

“ Good memories gives us comfort, by knowing such a hard obsessive worker, same as he was with work, Broggi as we called him at work, always adore his family and tried all the time the best for all of them, his family was always in his mind and talk about them all the time, thank you for sharing that love with us, we will always miss you

“ I spent countless hours playing wiffle ball, tag football and street hockey with John on the Lincoln School playground. He was always the best player at every sport we played, yet he always made it look effortless. My parents always liked when he would come to our house to trade baseball cards or play a game of electric football - that "nice polite quiet boy" they always referred to him. I remember playing the first video game PONG with him for hours on a tiny little black and white TV in the dining room at his parents house. He was a huge Milwaukee Bucks fan.

In the late 80's we had great battles in Mon City slo pitch softball - every year it came down to John's Gallatin team against our Turners/Outhouse teams for the playoff championship. So many times having a drink at the team bar after a game someone would say "Did you see that play Broggi made tonight, how did he do that??"

Nobody ever had a bad word to say about John, and he always had a smile and kind word for every one. He was a very good friend.

Our thoughts and prayers go out to John's family and all of his loved ones. Rest in peace #13

“ God Up in the Heavens must have needed another Angel...So He called John Home...
Though, here.. We are left to wonder why, but sometimes the why is never answered or understood.
We were blessed to know John, to know of John through his family: Mary, Cory and Mara Rose and through the life he lived, all 55 years of life. John left memories to last a lifetime. We will all miss him, his physical life, but his spiritual life will live on in those that are here to keep his memories alive and well, and knowing that we should all find comfort.

I feel that life is a precious gift, but never eternal, for it always comes to an end-but through life we leave a mark, a memory, a footprint, allowing those we leave behind to always remember us by-John did that, he left his mark on all that knew him, whether it be by his smile, his personality or his sense of humor. Amen!!!

May his family find peace and comfort in knowing that John lived his life for his family, he was a humble man, a family man, a hard worker, dedicated friend and one of the nicest people you would ever want to meet.

RIP John...

“ John, it's been 30 years since our softball days in the Pigeon Creek League. Gallatin vs Outbouse were great games...we were such bitter rivals in those days! Your God-given talent and blazing speed made for highlight reel material! We also used to meet up in the library at Ringgold HS to talk baseball...and pore over the latest issue of SI. Rest in peace...condolences to your family. Jim Isaac

“ A letter to my cousin: Johnny, you are one year younger than I and to me, you will always be, 'Johnny'. Your father and my mother were siblings of eight and we grew up as part of a large, extended Italian family. We didn't know it then, but we were raised by a village. You and your sister, Marsha; my sister, Jacki; and our cousins, Cathy and B.J. were all close in age and inseparable at family functions and events. Christmas night was always spent at my parents' home where we ate great food, played games and with our toys received that morning, listened to Christmas and Italian music and we snuck a beer or shot of something when our parents weren't looking. A visit to your house during Christmas week has a memory of your incredible water-filled tree ornaments that were strategically placed above a large tree light so the water would bubble from the heat. While our parents talked in one room, you, Marsha and I would escape to the basement and share a beer or two under the stairs. Sunday summer picnics were again at my parents' home having my mother's homemade pizza and you were never far from her side listening to the Pittsburgh Pirate games on her transistor radio. As so often happens, we grew up, went to college and our lives took off in different directions. We moved to different states over the past decades and while we have not been in contact it has always been a comfort knowing that family members were leading productive lives, were there if we needed them, and we share memories of our childhoods. You have always been a man of integrity, you treat people as equals, you treat them with dignity and respect and I know you and Mary have raised Cory and Mara with those same attributes. How lucky are they to have such a role model! Saturday, I will be at Holy Name Cathedral here in Chicago at the time of your prayer service, so look for me here. Rest in Peace.

“ John was a great guy that I played alot of baseball against during our younger years. I worked with him one Summer at the old Lincoln Elementary School. We did a ton of screwing around and playing basketball that Summer and not much actual work.

I will never forget the times we spent that Summer.

My condolences to his family

“ I went all through school with John in Ringgold, starting in Lincoln School in kindergarten. From the time we were little kids, John always had a big smile for others, was friendly and got along with everyone. John was always so neatly dressed; likely one of the best dressers in Lincoln School. Going to Lincoln School was a wonderful experience in a day-gone-by that we classmates shared. We were a close-knit bunch who walked to and from our dear little third ward school and went home daily at mid-day to have a home-cooked lunch that our moms prepared. I know Mrs. Broggi would have prepared a great lunch for John each day. Always a natural athlete, John was at the heart of our playground teams, either serving as captain, or enviably, being one of the first to get picked for our teams. Outside of school, John played little league on my dad's team, the VFW, at the Mounds. My dad always liked John as did my entire family. John will be long remembered and sorely missed by many.... Laura M. Magone, classmate at Lincoln School, Finley Junior High and Ringgold High School

“ When John (Booger) played baseball, multiple positions but SS was his best, he never seemed to run. It was almost like he was gliding above the diamond. He made the difficult play seem pedestrian. An absolute honor to grow up with him. RIP Booger. Thoughts and prayers from my family to yours. Ben Watson
