“ 5 name Murphy. Abbigator. Baby girl. Little people.

I always came over to the house and had a nickname for you. I picked you up from school and my heart melted when you got so excited and ran into my arms. I taught you how to bowl and laughed so hard when you grabbed a 12lb ball by yourself.

Aunt Mary misses you everyday. You have guided me through this past year. I love you so much and thank you for watching over me. I love you more than words. My favorite little person, I cannot wait until we see each other again.

“ I still remember Abbey's first day of school at Children's Academy I was holding her thinking she was younger then she was and everyone wanted confirmation of whose room she belonged to. Jaxson was blessed to be in her room and affectionately called her baby. Although she didn't need protection I was told no one messed with Abbey because Jaxson would be right there protecting her. She was Jaxson's best friend and everyday when I asked who he played with that day he would always say Abbey (you could always witness them together on the camera). She will be greatly missed by both of us.

Although I'm no longer at Cal-H, I remember Abby. I was one of the people Heather Patterson is talking about. The first time I saw Abby, I had just taken my class inside. The bigger kids was on the playground. I spotted this tiny girl playing and immediately thought one of the Infant rooms left a child in the playground and was corrected.... lol. I was always fascinated by her small stature and big attitude. I remember one day on the playground, Abby was getting a riding toy to push. A bigger boy straddled her toy. She pushed him off. Although I felt bad for the kid on the ground, I laughed, did a fist pump in the air and said "Way to go, Abby!" She was sweet and feisty and held her own. I loved watching her....Mrs. Julia Davis (Mrs. Julie)

“ On Aiden's last birthday, I got the pleasure of watching baby Abbey, for a couple of hours. She not only one of the sweetest little girl, but she even helped me shop for outfits!

Our home was always open to the Murphy kids and we'll miss Abbey pushing Gabby red grocery cart around the house.

I am so sorry for your loss, she was loved by all :)
