“ I miss Anika a lot. She is not my mother, but at the same time, she is like I said before. these few months have been hard she hasn't been here to tell me everything will be okay, her birthday is in a couple of months, and I don't think I'm ready for it, cause other people treat that day like it's a normal day. I'll be giving in my sorrows because it is my heavenly angel's birthday, and I can't help but cry that whole day and only see pictures of her gorgeous face. I can't text her happen birthday let alone see her. I can only sit at her grave or just sit in my bed looking at pictures of all of us when life was perfect and you were nowhere near dying and you were just okay. moving around a lot in the pool every summer. going to a different place on every occasion. you might have not been the best mother on earth. but god knows you knew how to mother. I love you, beautiful angel.

“ Anika is my mother, she isnt really my mother but shes my step mother. i still claim her as my step mom too from time to time. we've had plenty of downs but way more ups. i miss everything about you. i miss how you used to call me just to call and send pictures to me of when we we're younger and we all was one big happy family living together and doing eveything together. i wish you was still here with me. when my dad told be you died i was in the middle of a game and i couldnt play anymore so i was so hurt. when luke told me you was praying for 3 hours before you passed i was kinda happy because im happy that you called on him. you knew it was your time so you let go and let God. i think about you 24/7. My friends help me try to stop talking and crying about you but i dont know how. so when i found this, you know i had to write something down. what keeps replaying in my head is how you looked inside your casket. you looked so peacefully but i wasnt ready. i knew you was going to die but not so soon. i miss your touch and your smile. if you seen me crying right now you would've asked if i wanted to go to the beach to cheer me up. you will forever be my mother and im thankful for everything you did do when you was alive. to me you are still alive in my life. i belive your also watching over me. i will forever be your happy little girl though. but guess what i have all A' s and B's, i know you would be so proud of me!! even though we're not blood. you are my blood. i love you anika.
