“ I am the grandson of Lloyd Eastman, Carl's brother. Around 1977, we came up to Escanaba to visit Hannah (Great Grandma), Carl's family and Milton's family. Uncle Carl brought me and my sister to the Lake where there had been a massive fish kill, something that was not uncommon back then. I asked him why all the fish were dead. His response was, "this is what happens when you don't take care of the environment." That had a massive impact on me at the time and undoubtedly influenced my becoming an environmental scientist. :)

“ I met Mr and Mrs Eastman through their daughter Sandra who is a dear friend of mine. Mr Eastman had a kind twinkle in his eyes and a ready smile. I enjoyed his reflections on life in Trinidad since that is my homeland too. I look forward to hearing more of his stories when I see him in the new world where we will live the life our loving father Jehovah intended for us to live. We will never have to say goodbye to our loved ones again. I will keep your family in my prayers.

“ As a boy, Mr Carl helped me stay out of trouble with kind words when other adults simply shouted and scolded. As a man he stood out as an example to emulate, and I am all the better for knowing him. He may not have been perfect, who is? But, he was a good man, a kind man, and I respected and admired him immensely. Happy trails.

“ My wife and I met Carl & Elvy four years ago. Sandra had initiated the meeting so we could teach them the bible. We had several studies with them and during that time we got to really know Carl. He was a genuine wonderful person with a great sense of humor. We understood his humor because we came from the same country of Trinidad. He was very easy going, very hospitable, and cared deeply for his family. Most importantly he was a good husband to his wife Elvy and loved his children dearly. Our prayer is that the family take comfort in the things Carl learned from the bible, things like the reason why we die, the condition of the dead and the hope for the dead.

Our warmest love and sympathy goes with the entire family. As often as death occurs the pain is the same, but it would not be long before that pain we feel over his death turns into joy. Elvy you will have some sad days ahead, but take comfort in the wonderful memories of you and Carl and most importantly take comfort in Our God Jehovah who comforts us all in any given situation.

“ My dearest father You would not begin to know how hard it was to watch you take your last breath you were the one constant in my life but you knew you were going because you said it would be over soon. I know that you're Okay now and you have the resurrection hope so the best is yet to come you were not just my father but my best friend and we were all blessed to have you for a dad the bible says that Jehovah God will not give you more than you can bare that when it becomes unbearable he always makes a way out . And he kept his promise to you. I may not be able to dance with you again in this life . But I promise I will work hard to see you in the resurrection and we'll have that dance then. You are so loved by everyone and so missed, love you daddy Michelle

“ To my dearest grandfather,
It still feels surreal that you are gone. It does my heart some good that I was able to speak to you, tell you that I loved you & hear you say it back to me. We didn't get a whole lot of time together during your time here on earth but the times that I did share with you will be cherished for a lifetime. I feel blessed that I was able to get to know what a jovial, gentle man you are and always will be remembered as. I never knew how much losing you would have impacted me, until it happened. I will always love you grandpa Carl. All I ask is that you continue to watch over all of us. Rest in peace

Love,

“ My grandpa,
He is funny. He always had the sense of humor that i love in people. You could say i will see you later , and he would say not if your eyes are closed,making a joke out of it. He died only a couple days ago and i already miss him so much. Anytime i walk in the room and say "hi grandpa" he would say hi darling. It will feel so weird not hearing him say that anymore.I was just about to check up on him when i heard the news about 10 minutes later. I knew it was coming but...i thought i had a good bit of time. My grandpa took my grand mother all over the world,just think like she said,its like he is on a long vacation. At least he is not suffering anymore he is at rest with no more pain. We all miss him and he had a full life on earth. The past 10 years of my life he has been a good great grand father to me. I love you grandpa.

“ My family knows I'm a stickler for time, and that I get agitated when people take my time for granted, but they don't know why. I recall, at 15 years of age, being called for a job interview. I can't remember where, but the man said to be there at 9am; I arrived at 9:02am and he wasn't there. I went to my grandparent's house and I was fuming mad. I said "Grandpa, I can't believe I went all the way to queens and this man wasn't even there." He asked, "What time did he tell you to be there?" I replied, "9am." He asked, "What time did you get there?" I said "9:02." His reply? 9am is 9am. The message was loud and clear, and that's why I'm so passionate about time and punctuality. There are so many stories I could share about this wonderful man, but that would take another 36 years of my life. Love you grandpa. You can rest easy now, your job on this earth is done!

It has been 19 months and the pain is still fresh. When I close my eyes I could still see the suffering you went through on that day, I wish that on know one. I am trying really hard to be the best servant of Jehovah I can be, but it I feel as if satan is sitting on my back ridding me. I will never give u[p because I know Jehovah is the only one who can help me through these difficult times and also he is by the only means by which I can have the hope of seeing you again on the paradise earth he has promised us. Everlasting life is what I am fighting for. Adam took it away from us and I am fighting to take it back. So until I see you again. RIP Always in my heart. Your daughter

The day of my graduation was difficult. I wished you were there with me to say I am proud of you, also when Jameel and Tahirah graduated. I am on my way from Atlanta heading home from seeing Nigel in Ohio, stopped in Georgia to see Damany and Jameel. I thought about you and tears came to my eyes. I know crying won't bring you back so I held back the tears for when I see you again so we could cry together tears of joy. Miss you so much, it hurts my heart. I know you can't read this but it makes me feel better when I put my feelings in written words. Love you dad always.
