“ In every culture, grieving families appreciate receiving comfort. The Creator of life also gives comfort to such mourning ones. The Christian apostle Paul stated in the Bible, that God “who comforts us in all our trials, so that we may be able to comfort others in any sort of trial.” (2 Corinthians 1: 3, 4) True, divine help does not eliminate the pain but it can make it easier to bear. The Bible teaches that all those in the memorial tombs will be resurrected. Please read John 5:28, 29 in your Bible for comfort and hope. www.jw.org

“ Our souls never die- we just change our focus. As a spark of light from Source, we are infinitely connected to the flow of experience. When it is time to disconnect the cord of life from our physical body, our spark rises up and out of the human physical body. We take the experience of our lifetime with us, but our focus is changed to a slightly different level of vibration. We still exist as the person we were in human form as well as the many people we have been before. Every lifetime builds experience and wisdom. I am sure you are a lucky sister to have Natvar as your brother during your time in this planet. Shailesh Shah

“ How do I even begin to say how sorry I am on the passing of a beautiful, kind, loving, sweet, elegant, graceful, warm soul who treated my like her daughter. A huge great big void is left by her. She has left wonderful, heart-warming memories that will be cherished forever and always. My deepest condolences to Jaychandmasa, Veenabhen and family, Sunilbhai and family, Sajtbhai and family as well as to Natvaramama, Jasvantmama, Arunamasi, Prabhamasi, their families.

Life is precious. It is a gift. Be grateful. Chanchalmasi thank you for brining light and love to my life. You will be dearly missed. Be blessed always.

“ To Jaychand and Family,
We are indeed sorry to learn of the passing away of Chanchalbhen. During our visit to Orlando in 2011, we were ever so delighted to meet Chanchalbhen as we had not seen her for over 2 decades. We are in the process of planning another trip to Orlando in October 2014 and our prime reason was to once more meet her. Fate has denied us this opportunity. Padma has always had a special place in her heart for Chanchalbhen; she fondly remembers all the days of youth they had spent in each others homes in downtown Jo-burg. We pray that her soul has everlasting peace.

“ When we were young, Foi seemed to feel so happy and proud to see me learn to knit. She was very skilled in knitting, sewing, crocheting among other things! I always remember that the onset of winter meant our very own scarf and hat knitted to match our school uniforms. A dose of Foi's love and warmth to wrap us up when the air was chilly. I always thought I never needed to really learned to sew, because Foi could help me sew.

May her soul join with those of our loved ones in God's eternal abode! Om Shanti, Shanti, Shanti!

“ My fondest memory of Chanchamasi was during one of my visits to Orlando in the mid 90s. I arrived at her house for dinner. She was, as always, so excited to see me that she came rushing to the door to greet me. She embraced me and wouldn't stop talking....only to suddenly realize that her frying pan had caught alight. She rushed into the kitchen in panic, put a lid on the flames and calmly carried it outside. Later that evening, we had a good giggle about the situation...

I will forever remember her for her love of astrology & high heels, her contagious giggle (which I know Sajit has inherited), and how she always insisted I sit right next to her, hand in hand, on her couch and give her my latest news.

May you rest in peace Chancharmasi.
