“ We grew up together and have always called each other cousins. I enjoyed coming over to the thrift store where you worked to see you. We've had lunch after work and some very good convos. I'm still hurt and disturbed by your passing. No one told me anything. I had to find out on a social media site. I think about you very often and am comforted in knowing that your with our Lord & Savior! Rest easy Cuz and know I Love You! Love Meshell

“ I am Deborah's baby sister. I have nothing but fun memories of my sister. My sister was the life of the party at our family gatherings. She always would either do something funny or say something funny. Everytime I think of her I can't help but to giggle. She had a very contagious laugh. A complete stranger could be in the room with her and not even know what she's laughing about, but I can bet a million bucks that person would either giggle to themselves if not burst out laughing. That's how contagious her laugh was. Lol 😂 I'm going to miss my Chucka Bucka very much (Inside Joke). I only wish I would have been around her more to hear her laughter more than I did while she was here. My big sister will forever be with me in my heart and I will keep laughing in her honor! Rest in Heaven big sis! 🙏🥺
