“ Dad you were the foundation of the family, the strength in our souls, the life of any party, the glue for your siblings, and the rock for my sisters. These past couple of months I have been back home, I swear you have been more happy then I have ever seen you before. I know you died early, but you made peace with God and found peace inside yourself. You were ready for what life threw at you, no matter what it was, and I hope I can find that strength in myself now that you have found your eternal peace. I pray for that strength, to support mom, to be there for Rose and Jade, to be a new rock for our family and to use you as my example. And by the time I leave this earth, I hope that I will make you proud of how my life turned out. I love you dad, and I know in my heart that you are truly resting in peace.
