“ I got to know Manny over the last couple of years after some close friends moved to Tennessee. I helped him out with cat food and such in their absence. He was so selfless with making the decision to allow his beloved pets to be rehomed, because he knew it was best for them. That seemed to be his top concern for a long time. One of those beloved cats is with me - his beloved "Turtle". He was so proud of keeping his house nice and taking care of his pets and the ferals. And oh my goodness, when Manny found out we shared some similar views with politics, there was no stopping him. I will always remember Manny with fondness. He was a good man with a huge heart!
