“ Every time Uncle Ishmael came to Trinidad he'll always say granddaughter you have to be my nurse because Lyssa isn't here. I had to give him his tablets morning and evening and if I had school I'd make sure and take it out and leave it for him or else he'd say "I'll have to tell Lyssa you're not doing a good job granddaughter". He was always filled with joy, we'd sit and talk for hours about how things were when he was growing up with my grandfather and at the end, when it was time for me to go home he'd always say "thanks for coming granddaughter, god bless you and I love you". I'm so grateful to have had him as one of my grandfather. May your soul rest in eternal peace, I love you always 🕊️

“ Uncle Ishmael and I were close when he lived in NYC. I remember when we would rub heads, he would do that to give me some brains lol. He would call me Saleman and say I was his prettiest niece. At a time he lived in an apartment across from mine. Every birthday he would show up and buy me a pineapple cake. He took me to my middle school graduation. We used to go to church together and talk about the Bible. I will never forget when he told me that when we go out of our way to preach god's word, we earn a jewel on our crown. He told me that God will build mansions for us and we will go when it is prepared for us. I have so many memories with my Uncle Ishmael. I am happy you are living in your mansion, walking on streets made of gold. I will never forget him. I love you 💕 May you rest in peace.

“ When I think of grandpa, the first things that comes to mind is when I used to play as his nurse and would organize his medicine, give him what he needed, and check up on him. This would make him feel so happy and cared for. I also remember when he would pick my cousins and I up in his Jeep to go get ice cream and later head to the park to play. I would never for get that man’s order: a medium sugar-free vanilla cone. Then he would sit in the Jeep to finish the cone while we were playing, then meet us by the bench. I would go and have a chat with him for a little bit about all he’s experienced and learned in his life. However, these are the things that I took for granted, the little things that I will always remember but wish I did more of with him. He really was a special person that knew how to make a person smile and laugh. He loved his family more than anything and always gave us all the blessings that he could. No one else has ever or will ever have a papa like ours. I love you grandpa, rest easy and know that you will never be forgotten in the hearts of the ones you loved. Thank you for everything.

“ When I came to the US I did not have any relatives here. Hamid who gave me a place to stay without a question. All he knew was that I was Collie's daughter his home became my home, the family i cherish to this day. He cared for me like I was one of his children. I thank you for being there for me and for many others that you have opened your heart and home. May you now rest in peace.
