“ There are too many memories flooding back about papi. He was a great father, always wanted the best for us, and taught us everything we needed to "adult". From being loving, kind, to striving for excellence, changing a flat, oil change, and most importantly being strong as a family unit. The moment I'm most proud of was being able to show him that he raised us right. He, even as strong willed as he was, allowed us to take care of him. He let his gaurd down and trusted us, at his weakest point to nurse him back to health. I am at peace that we were allowed that opportunity to not only get closer, but to show him that he did a great job at parenting all of us. Together we are stronger. I am sad that you are no longer here, but I understand that you were ready. Thank you for being the best dad ever. 🥺❤️🥰 Te quiero mucho papi, bendición. ❤️🥰❤️

“ Tio. Jackie taught me how to be a bookkeeper at his gas station when I was 10 years. I did that for a while. I loved it, it was like piecing the puzzle together to make the numbers match. I love you and will miss you dearly. Bendicion! -- Angie --

Yes I remember that accounting book and when you got older, the child labor passed on to us 😊. No wonder I love accounting. Love you.

“ My deepest condolences to my family for the loss. My most favorite memory has to be when I was a kid my parents (Papo Miguel & Diana) would go visit Jackie at his shop. As the grownups talked us kids (Me, Mikey & Nancy) would go play out back on old tires. The simple things as a child were always the best. My family and I are deeply saddened by Jackie's passing. He will truly be missed.

Thinking of your family and keeping you in my prayers. I unfortunately only met your father a few times but I remember him being so nice, and knew him to be a hard worker, who provided for his family. I remember his auto business from when I was a kid before I even knew your family, what a positive role model for everyone and especially the Latino community. My deepest condolences to your family, cherish your memories of him, celebrate his life for he is now in a new glorious home, and although he will be missed, you'll see him again, until then always keep him in your heart.
