“ Mi sincera condolencia por la pérdida de su ser querido. Me gustaría compartir algunas escrituras que han ayudado a mí familia y amigos en momentos difíciles como esto, JUAN 5:28,29 Dios promete que habrá una resurrección en un futuro muy cercano y revelación 21:3,4 Dios promete que la muerte y el sufrimiento acabará para siempre; tenemos esta esperanza gracias a las promesas de Dios. Atentamente, Yolanda Rivera.

“ My father was a kind, unpredictable, unlike other man. He always shared stories from young until the moment he left. Because I was his only little girl I was the most spoiled one.

I remembered telling him that one day he will be living with me. Definitely that day came in 2011. It was always a hustle being with him he moved here and there, always want it to go somewhere to entertain himself, he also was very independent.

An example was one time he left the house where we live in Apopka and and up in Oklahoma where he used to live. It was scary time but it was funny because he knew his path he knew where he belong even though he couldn't do it by himself.

Nevertheless he gave me the best times a daddy's little girl could have, a date every Friday for breakfast at our favorite place with my best friend hanka.

Papi Papi I will always love you, and will always remember that laugh, smile, gestures, sayings, noices, and touch.
