“ I’m so sorry I can’t be here today, but you are in my thoughts. I know you will always be with me and will always be watching down over me. There are thousands of things I will miss about you, but I have just written down a few. I will miss my trips to Florida every year to visit you and especially seeing your big smile waiting to greet me as I walked out of the airport. I will miss our regular phone calls, which usually involved a long debate on American Football news. I will miss the beers we used to drink together, especially the ones that involved stopping into ‘Hooters’ for some Grandfather and Grandson bonding time. I will miss you driving me from place to place and never once complaining, even though it did always involve a phone call from you to tell me I was late. I will even miss the embarrassing situations where you would always walk straight to the front of a queue or ask people to move from their seats in a sports bar so that your Grandson could have a better view of the television to watch the football. You always wanted to make sure everything was right for me.

The night before you left us we spoke on the phone about the NFL Draft. Sadly we never got the chance to discuss it. I thought you would want to know that both the UCF players that we went to watch in October signed for the Jacksonville Jaguars.

You certainly were a unique Grandad in every way and I will really miss you so much.
