“ Marcos’ father passed away in his 30’s, and Marcos used to think he would have the same fate. As he lived far beyond his 30’s, he considered every day a gift. He valued life, friendship, and his children. He was a close friend to me and my family, and we will miss him dearly. We send our condolences to Jennifer, Peter and Marcos.

“ Marcos was a great friend to many—especially to my mom, Elsa. And it is because of him that I am blessed to have developed a friendship with Jenny Flores that has lasted from childhood until today. I remember the many long drives he made back-and-forth between Long Island and the Bronx, picking me up to make sure that me and Jenny could play together. He always made me feel welcome in his home—a home that he kept stocked with goodies. I never wanted to leave! Thank you, Marcos. May you rest in peace.

Thank you very much Raul y Maria! You've shared a quality in papi that has been echoed by many of the friends who have called to send their condolences to our family. One of papi's greatest gifts was to always offer help and love to those people who could use a helping hand, whether w/ a simple smile, by listening, a shoulder to lean on or whenever possible, financially. He never hesitated to help the people he loved. =)
