

Nand Ram Persaud

May 29, 1953 - September 27, 2025

Nand R. Persaud better known as Sam, moved here from Skelton, Guyana at the young age of 22. Sam was a VERY hard-working young man. Sam worked as a mechanical maintenance technician during the day shift at Disney, while also maintaining a job at the House of Beef on the night shift. Sam also attended college classes in an effort to advance his knowledge and skills and was taking the little money he earned to send back to his family in Guyana all while creating a way to bring them to America. Sam began buying properties to start a rental business. He lastly transferred to City of Orlando and worked in the streets and drainage department as a dump truck driver where he remained working for 40 years. He got married and had 2 beautiful kids a Son name Semeon and a daughter named Shayla. He was a Pillar of his community, very well liked and loved by his family, coworkers and friends. Although he seemed like a regular guy he wanted nothing but the best for his kids, family, and friends whether it was showing them a trade or encouraging them to stay in school he did everything in his power to help them achieve their goals, he wanted to see everyone WIN! Sam was an UPSTANDING MAN and he will be greatly missed.

“ Uncle Sam I am truly going miss you. Driving across town to chill with you always made my day! I want to thank you for your unwavering love, the chats and the life lessons you taught me! I appreciate you for always expressing how proud you were of me, and what an honor it was for me to be your niece! You always said how proud you of my accomplishments achieved! It meant the world to me to see a big smile on your face whenever i pulled up on you! The love you had was unmatched! You will forever be in my heart!

“ Imaging being on a trip and you get a call that your father has passed away! To be in disbelief is an understatement. My dad use to call me and say, “Hey Blue I’m not sure if you’re in the country or not but...” To never receive those phone calls again is going to be tough. Thank you daddy for teaching us not only how to use our hands but also how to expand our brains. Thank you again for showing us how you can make something “ Brand new buddy” the true definition of one man’s trash is another man’s treasure.I am forever grateful and thank you daddy for all the time we had. I will forever love you daddy💕

“ My Cha Cho was a man of many words but words can't express the loss of him. Grand St. has forever been changed but the hearing of your voice I will never forget. Our many laughs of telling each other stories and you telling me about you and my daddy when you were growing up and first starting in this country. I miss you Cha Cho and I love you. This will always be my favorite picture.

He gave nearly four decades of his life to the City of Orlando and to the Streets and Stormwater Division.

Sam began his career with the City of Orlando on January 27, 1986, as part of the aquatic spray team. Through dedication and hard work, he worked his way up to an equipment operator, mastering vehicles from street sweepers to dump trucks. For 39 years, he served this city faithfully, playing a vital role in keeping our streets and stormwater systems maintained and running smoothly.

But Sam's impact goes far beyond the work he performed. He was known among his coworkers as a friendly, kind, and humble man. He loved his city family and took great pride in being a city employee. His smile could brighten any room, and his positive outlook was something everyone admired.

He was a natural mentor to new employees, always patient and encouraging as he passed along his knowledge. In fact, even during his final week with us, Sam was still giving back—training a new dump truck driver on the street sweeper program. That dedication shows the kind of man he was: always teaching, always sharing, always caring.

Sam leaves behind a legacy of service, friendship, and love for his city family. He will be deeply missed, but his memory will continue to live on in the hearts of those who knew him and in the city he served so faithfully.
