“ Norma and I were roommates in New York and friends for over 40 odd years. We were the most compatible roommates because Norma loves to cook and I hate it with a passion. Norma hates the cleanup and I love to see things back in place. During those times money was tight but that didn't stop us from going to 14th Street in Manhattan under the pretense of shopping but was "window shopping ". We had the best of times. When Norma's husband and kids migrated to the US/Florida I was devastated. I thought I would lose my best friend. That did not happen. We visited, and spoke on the phone as it no break in time. We just always pick up where we left off. Also our retirement house was finished in Orlando, Norma and Hush came over the house every couple of months when we visited (not yet retired), and we would christen the house with music, good food, store bought or cooked by Norma, not by me and beers. More so by my husband the beer part. Norma will never be forgotten by us, after all she has the best birthday "FEBRUARY 26", and so do I. 😊🤔. To all Norma's family, friends and loved ones - Mark and I have you all in our prayers, and let's celebrate Norma's life and remember the love that she dished out to everyone. Love you all.
