“ Approaching the 4th Christmas without my big brother. I miss you all the time and often try to think of what you would do when I'm having trouble with something. It helps to know what you would say. Thanks for that. Miss you and love you always, Tim.

“ As your birthday approaches, I am reminded of how much I miss you. While it's easier to be sad and continue to mourn your passing, this year I will celebrate your life and all the wonderful memories I have. You live on through the many ways you've touched my heart and helped mold me into a better person. Although you didn't create me, you most definitely molded me into the strong & confident woman I have become. I love you with all my heart and I know you are here watching over me still ;-)

Michelle E.*

“ Rick, this will be our first Christmas ever without you and your humor at the dinner table. It will be my first Christmas without a big brother. I want you to know how much I miss you. I think of you all the time and I am taking good care of R.A.M. You know what that means. I hope you are having a wonderful time in heaven with everyone else that has left us and has joined our Father God. Tell Papa hello for me! I love you and I will continue to miss you until we meet again, Tim.

“ Rick,

Even though we only got to have you for our brother for a short time, you leave a void in our blended family that no one else can fill. We will miss your smile and quiet but fabulously funny sense of humor. We take comfort in the fact that you are with our heavenly Father and free from any earthly suffering, but our hearts ache for those you left behind. Our condolences to your friends and extended family. Rest in peace, dear brother.

“ I never thought about what I might say if you went home before me. I'm not sure that these words will be sufficient enough to show how much having you as an older brother has meant to me from the very beginning. I've always looked up to you and wanted to be like you and do everything that you did. I guess that what I am trying to tell you and every one that reads this, is that having an older brother like you is the best thing ever. I also want to say that I'm sorry for not spending more time with you over the last few years. I have no excuses and I am the one who missed out. Rick, thank you for the laughs, the cries, the advise and most of all the protection that only a big brother can bring. The pain of losing you is almost unbearable, but to know that you are no longer suffering and that you are at home in God's kingdom is worth every bit of loss that I feel. I will miss you and will carry you with me on the rest of my journey and share you with every one that crosses my path. Until we meet in heaven, I love you, your little brother, Timmy.

“ Even though I did not know Richard personally, I really wanted to express my condolences to you and your family. God's word the bible speaks of a time when death will be a thing of the past. Revelation 21:3, 4 is a comforting scripture that I wanted to share with you during your time of sadness.

“ There will never be enough words or even the right words to express how much I love & admire my dad or to describe the giant hole in my heart when you left us on 06-13-13. I wasn't ready for you to leave me so soon daddy but I truly believe you wouldn't want to suffer anymore so I'll pick up the pieces of my life just the way you would want but know that I take you with me everywhere I go. I love you my papa bear. Go in peace knowing you are and will always be the best dad and friend a girl could ever have. Your grandsons Brandon Y. Espinoza and Jaden G. Espinoza will forever love, admire and completely adore you for all the ways you made them laugh, gave them advice and constantly showed them that they meant the world to you. You are and always will be their cherished grandfather and best friend. Thank you again for all the wonderful ways you loved us, for always sharing your heart and reminding us that you were proud of us, needed us and believed in us. We love you.
