“ Ron always had us laughing at the Airport. We would always laugh cause we were hot and sweaty in those hot uniforms in Florida. He always talked about his wife and daughter at that time. Then he got me a job to work with her and then I got to know them both and their daughter and 1rst son even better. Ron came by on his days off just to hug his kids and wife. He was a wonderful Man. so sorry for your loss Tanisha and family

“ When Ronnie stayed with us here in Brisbane, he wanted to understand Australian culture, I said well there's lots of things that make us unique down under other than our wild life, I said hey Ronnie have you ever had a lamington? Ron replied, No what's a lamington? So I pulled one out of the refrigerator and said here you go, you can't much more Australian than a lamington, you will enjoy it so much that you'll be back for more! Ron said oh OK, I don't really feel like it now but I'll try it later. After a long night of talking we all went to bed and had a good nights rest, Ron came out with the biggest smile on his face and said I see what you mean by those lamingtons, I woke up early this morning feeling hungry and didn't want to wake you guys by rattling around in the kitchen and then all of a sudden I spotted this lamington, with a big smile on my face I peeled back the wrapping and took my first bite, well the chocolate flavor hit my lips and tongue followed by the coconut and then the soft texture of the sponge crumbling in my mouth, it felt romantically delicious, I had to pause for a minute and look around to make sure no one was watching me and then continued to finish this taste of Australia, God it was good !!! Ron expressed with so much glee, Ron said it was so funny that he had such a wonderful moment with this lamington on the end of his bed 😊😊😊 So glad you had such a wonderful time with us, you will always be in our lives Ron in our thoughts and our hearts, you are a shining light wherever you go my friend, love always Baz from Down Under 😊😊😊

“ Totally loved having Ron visit with us in Australia as our guest. He has always dreamt of visiting Australia and glad we encouraged him to come down under, and live this life time dream. Not only did Ron enjoy his time here, but we also loved having him here, and he opened my eyes and made me look at my country in a different perspective. Will always remember Ron everytime I see a kangaroo. You will be dearly missed my friend, and brother. My love and support for your family lives on, and we open our hearts, and arms to welcome Tyneshia and children to visit one day when ready and see Australia also. Sending love and support. Valerie

“ I remeber all the morning Ron and I would talk about the Eagles and how good or bad they were playing. We would stand in the classroom at Ladybird laughing or shaking our heads over it. He would play with the kids including mine for a little. I also remeber Josiah's first birthday and him cutting his hair for the first time as he slept in the chair. It was a pleasure knowing him and calling him my friend.

“ After learning about my friend Ron passing, I stood in the same exact spot Ron stood in at Ladybird Academy in the front lobby. He stood there ever so proud with a big smile on his face holding Josiah up in one hand and flipping him around like a basketball. We were like, oh no, don't drop him. Tyneshia was like "whatever, he does that all the time". It sent chills down me standing in his footsteps. But, I realized that Ron always put his family above the rest, he loved them so much. He was a hardworking man, a great provider as a dad and husband. You will definitely be missed by all Ron and it my my pleasure having you in my life.

“Twin, I can not believe this. I remember starting at the Airport at Erac and everyone calling me Ron and then someone would say, "He's not Ron". That day I was thinking, "Who is Ron?" 1. I knew you were Black because there weren't that many Black people working at Erac. 2. I'm thinking does this dude really look like me? So the next day you come to work and I don't know who introduced us (you probably walked up to me cause that was your Spirit) but we hit it off. Next thing I know you got me on a golf cart and we are driving around the Enterprise Rent a car back parking lot! Turns out we don't really look like each other but we were both Big, Black and Beautiful so people would get us confused. I don't and didn't deal with a lot of new people because I'm very introverted, plus being in a new state, in the South, I didn't feel comfortable. But when you came around I felt like I had a friend/ brother/ Twin (as we would refer to each other). You were friends with everyone body but thank you for being my friend.

Oh that's where I met Ron at Enterprise as a renter. We became best mates and when he found out I was Australian then conversation was on.
