“ I love my Aunt Sally so much. Because she's gone, it doesn't mean my love is past tense. Because I haven't seen her in ages doesn't mean I love her less. I remember a time when me, and Jodi and Renee met her at a bar where there was karaoke. Us girls sang Independence Day (Ok, maybe we just belted it out terribly off-key). We were yelling the words to the song, it was horrible, lol. The other clientele were just kind of staring, but we didn't care, we were stars up on that stage! Of course Aunt Sally knew practically everyone in the place so when we relinquished our stardom to the next singer, she turned to everyone and said "they're so pretty aren't they?" Lmao It's one of my favorite memories with her. Another favorite memory is when I used to work at Ben White raceway and I was bartending at night. I invited my mom and Aunt Sally to the bar on mother's day and I paid for their drinks and made them food as my mother's day gift to them. We had such a good time and it was always fun when those two ladies, friends all through the years since their school days, got together. They both loved to party, dance, laugh ... I will never forget Aunt Sally's laugh and I'm glad I can still hear it from Sue. Aunt Sally is the reason we moved to Florida. It set us on a new direction and expanded our family. I got fired from my job at the airport for leaving my shift early to babysit Missy and Billy when we lost Uncle John. I didn't regret it, because we were family. Aunt Sally came to my mom's bedside in her final days. We, despite separations, are indelibly connected through the enduring love and friendship between our moms. I am so sorry I couldn't be there today. Aunt Sally has always been in my heart and I am sad I couldn't be there with my "family" to show my love and support. Rest in peace, my special Aunt.

“ I am so sad to hear about this dear friend of mine.... she was not like anyone else I have ever known...her laugh was contagious & her look of disgust even more powerful. I called her Ophelia and she called me Vera. She coordinated our "Titsworth Sisters Run" we had a driver to take us to several pubs all wearing the same Titsworth Sister T-shirts with our first names on the front (Ophelia/Vera) and of course the back had Titsworth....needless to say many hysterical laughter with tears as the reaction on the other patrons asked us "what is a Titsworth?" I feel fortunate to have known her, she was a shoulder to lean on whenever one needed it. And she told ya like it was.....no B.S. GO JETS! <3rock on Mustang Sally <3
