“ Auntie Sandy you can take anything and make it look like a million bucks. I loved your style. U truly made us feel like home when we visited. You are such a big ball of light. I will truly miss you. God called another one of his Angel's home. I love you Auntie Sandy.

*Sam,
I am still in disbelief that you are no longer with us. But I do know that you are no longer in pain and that you now rest peacefully in our father Gods arms. Your beautiful children and family love you so much, I know that you will definitely will be watching over all of them. Gone too soon, will never be forgotten.*

“ This letter is for you Sandy, the love of my life. I have so much inside me to say to you. I love the way you loved the small things in life, do you remember the time we were driving and you said “babe pull over”, and you got out and picked up a small piece of wood in the street, and you got back in the truck with a big smile and said “babe I can make something with this”. It’s your love of the little things that made me love you that much more, like the way you woke me up in the morning and said “babe here’s your coffee”. When I would come home from work you’d say “babe dinner’s almost ready, take your shower” and when I finished my shower my coffee was always waiting for me. When I didn’t feel well you took care of me, when I was sad you made me happy. Babe, you are the beat in my heart, the air in my lungs, you are the best part of me and for this I truly thank you. It just hurts so much inside to know that ill never again hear you say “babe here’s your coffee”, knowing that you’re neve going to all through that door again. The love that you had for me and our little dog was truly amazing it had no bounds. I’m writing this now with so many tears in my eyes and so much hurt in my heart, knowing that ill never see your smile again, no one to ever say “slow down babe you work too much”. Your loss is unbearable at this time, but I “smile” to know that you’re sitting there with God, for this I truly believe. So I must say goodbye for now as I bend down and whisper in your “right” ear, I love you. There’s only half of me now, you took the other half of me with you, which I’m more than willing to give you.

Your Forever Loves,
Mike & Lil Bacon
