“ I will never forget the first time I met Sandy. She was the big secret at my wedding traveling with Phil from Philadelphia, and no one knew she was Phil ' s girlfriend. She caught the bouquet and Phil the garter. A few months later they were married with my son in attendance in the front since Jay was their Godson!
Both Sandy and Phil has held a very special place in our hearts through good and bad times. Our whole family lived with them for a time and would gather on the bed 2 boys and 2 adults, the huge dog, and as Sandy and I share Native American Heritage family was so important.
Though we separated for years it was appropriate that we were brought together again at my Mom's funeral. Time does heal all and at that moment I knew how important it was to see her and Phil there. Though I didn't know it would be the last time I would see her I cried for the support she showed me with her hug.
I wish we had shared more time together, but I also knew all had been mended at that moment . I will miss her smile, humor, and her love she gave everyone !
I know one day we will meet in heaven and she will engulf me in her arms.

“ From a cousin, far off ion miles, but close by in heart, for hugs and prayers for your comfort and peace. I wish we had lived closer than across the country. I'd have loved to spend time with her. ____

“ So sorry for your loss Uncle Phil. Aunt Sandy made the best red velvet cake. I never knew what this cake was until I came into the family 23 years ago. Every time I see red velvet cake, I think of her. When Aunt Sandy spoke, she had such a sophistication aura about her. We would tell her about a trip, and she would tell us all about the area an about the people. I don't think she ever went to some of these places, she just had a worldly knowledge about her. She was all about Prim and Proper, something every generation has lost. She would talk about manners and how things used to be, sadly life is different today. She will be Missed.

“ There is no better feeling then knowing that you are loved, truly loved and Aunt Sandy and I shared that. She and Uncle Phil kept a room for me in their home, and I have warm memories of spending time with them. 4 th of July birthday parties for my Uncle Phil were an event for all, if you were able to share one with them, you know what I mean. Christmas was another time when they would host huge numbers of family and friends and whether you were family or friend you know they really opened their home to you. I will miss my Aunt Sandy, her warm smile, her comforting hugs but I am confident I will see her again and that she will welcome me with the biggest hug yet.

“ So sorry to hear about your loss. I remember well how much help she was to me some years ago when we were working on the family tree with cousin Grace. We never formally met, but we are cousins, also. She will be missed. Terry Keister.
