“ Rest peacefully dear Steve, or as I've heard Ben call you so many times... Boo-boo.

You are a kind man and Shirley rounded it out.

I'm glad we got to spend a few football games together as we cheered on our grandsons, both named Chase. I have high hopes that you and B are now smelling the race gas together.

Mike and Amanda, heads held high as we honor those that just simply are gone too soon.

Steve and I became friends/brothers decades ago. Our love for hot rods brought us together. Steve was a very talented man. He was also a perfectionist and developed a reputation for providing Very high quality Results and Service in his powder coating business. He taught his grandson Michael the importance of doing things right. He had an enormous amount of pride in Michael's work ethic and attention to quality and service as he took over the powder coating business. I'll never forget going down the drag strip in Lakeland in his newly finished 37 ford hot rod. He actually broke the rear suspension that weekend and that led to totally rebuilding the entire car including a repaint. He was always looking to improve his hot rods. He simply loved building his cars. I remember when Steve met Shirley. They were in love instantly. Steve would try to give me credit for saving his life and I would always tell him that God saved him. I was only the person God used to help. I'm positive that Shirley and Steve are enjoying their time together again in heaven. I'm honored And blessed to have know and loved Steve.

My brother Wes and I met Steve at the motorcycle races at the Orlando Sports stadium in the early 70's. I remember Steve as a tremendous competitor and a very nice and personable guy. I remember a indoor motorcycle short track race at the Eddie Graham arena in Orlando, my brother Wes and Steve raced together both were top riders ,I don't remember who won but I do remember Steve looked different than everyone else due to his extra long legs on the small indoor track, I'm about 8 years younger than Steve and my brother. I only saw Steve a few times over the few years at the race tracks and once at his powder coat bussiness in south Orlando just before his passing but I can say I always admired Steve and he will be surely be missed. Godspeed to Steve.
