“ Although I only knew Wayne a short time, he was a valued friend. He had a cooky zest for life and was loved by everyone who knew him. I only wish I had more time to get to know him better. You will be missed, Wayne!

“ Wayne, you were like a brother to me. Although we had our arguments, that is what happens in families. Especially when we were as close as we were. I'll never forget you and the hours of basketball and wrestling. We always had each other's back growing up and I'll always cherish that. I will be sure to set an extra plate every holiday and have plenty of pepper and butter on hand just for you. R.I.P. bro

“ Bro, for the last two years you have spent 24/7 with me.when I was alone you were here for me.When I was sad you were here with me.When I couldn't sleep you stayed up with me no matter what time it was.we had long talks when things were bothering me.when our childhood came back to hurt me you talked to me to help me feel better.we always said when God comes to get one of us we would do what we each asked of each other.so I am doing exactly what you wanted.tomorrow I will show you how much people loved you no matter how much pain it has caused me I know you would not want me to hurt, so you lit up my rosary for me to let me know you can breathe now.You and Reggie catch a big fish because when I get there with you guys I'll show you how it's done. haha.come see me once in a while so I know your ok.I know my pain will stop in time but for now my heart is broken in half.I miss you so much but God will take care of you now.bro,you rest in peace now.take a deep breath and enjoy it you deserve it.I love you so much and will miss you.good by bro.....barb your baby sis

“ Words cannot express, the great loss we have all known as Wayne! Such a kind and gentle man. He has gone to meet with the Lord at such a young age. Barely in his prime but so many beloved friends and family memories to bring with him. He will fill Heaven with such an array of love in his heart from the people in his life, they may have to build an extra room just to hold them all! I know he will be watching me from above, with my beloved Father. Sweet dreams will guide him into the Lords arms, where he will be waiting for us all when we arrive!
