

William Dane Jackson

December 13, 1965 - December 18, 2016

William Dane Jackson passed away on December 18, 2016. He was preceded in death by his father Don Wakefield Jackson and his mother Rose Ann Leavitt (Coil). He is survived by his daughter Bridgette Jackson, his sisters Donna Stutts, Lisa Canady, Melanie Jackson, his nephews Shane Jackson, Dillan Canady, and Joshua Stutts.

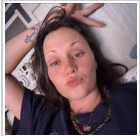

He was known as Dane to family, and as Billy to friends. He was very fun, loving and kind.

Tribute Wall

LC

“ It will be six years on Dec 18, 2021 that you grabbed Jesus hand and let Him lead you into heaven. We all have choices, and some of yours led you down the wrong way but I can rejoice now because you will never have to make those choices again. The best memories I have with you was singing at our fathers bedside thinking he was in a coma and wasn't supposed to wake up. But as we sang he opened his eyes and said .”Would you please stop with all that racket, I'm trying to sleep.”
Omg it was so funny! But he never woke again.
Maybe God was trying to tell us something! That death doesn't have to be scary, or that we needed singing lessons!

Lisa Canady - September 26, 2021 at 01:19 PM

“ Billy we shared to many to have a favorite but my most remember is when you brought me home from church and we stopped at Lowe's you always believed in me and encourage me to do better I love you Billy! I pray you are at peace!

Shelby Nicole - December 27, 2016 at 02:55 PM

And you always drinking those darn energy drinks

Shelby Nicole - December 27, 2016 at 02:56 PM

KS

“Dane my best memorie is when we were riding around Bardwell in my 70 Chevy pickup truck. And Eric the guy who sold the grit, wanted to go riding around with us. We let him and laughed so hard because he didn't want to leave. Long story short Eric was mentally challenged. I know that's not funny, but you had to be there.

Kenneth spalding - December 26, 2016 at 02:39 PM